

---

Contents

Acknowledgments .....	xi
-----------------------	----

Chapter One: Introduction: Teaching British Women Writers, 1750–1900 .....	1
Jeanne Moskal

PART ONE: READING TO TEACH: CLASSROOM PRACTICES AND PEDAGOGIES

Chapter Two: We Can Do It! Putting Women's Texts to Work.....	11
Shannon R. Wooden

Chapter Three: Teaching a "Highly Exceptional" Text: Krupabai Sathianadhan's Saguna and Narratives of Empire.....	20
Kristine Swenson

Chapter Four: Teaching English Women's Conversionist Rhetoric.....	33
Rebecca Shapiro

Chapter Five: Eliza Haywood: Mainstreaming Women Writers in the Undergraduate Survey .....	44
Kathryn T. Flannery

Chapter Six: The Poetry of Friendship: Connecting the Histories of Women and Lesbian Sexuality in the Undergraduate Classroom .....	59
Rick Incorvati

Chapter Seven: A Subversive Urn and a Suicidal Bride: Strategies for Reading Across Aesthetic Difference .....	74
Elizabeth A. Dolan

Chapter Eight: Pedagogy and Oppositions: Teaching Non-Canonical British Women Writers at the Technical University.....	91
James R. Simmons Jr.

Chapter Nine: Short Fiction by Women in the Victorian Literature Survey ....	101
Elisabeth Rose Gruner
Chapter Ten: "This Particular Web": George Eliot, Emily Eden, and Locale in Multiplot Fiction .....	110
Lawrence Zygmunt

PART TWO: TEACHING TO READ: MAKING STUDENTS OF SCHOLARS (AND VICE VERSA)

Chapter Eleven: Making the Student a Scholar .....	121
Jeanne Moskal
Chapter Twelve: Beyond "Great Crowds" and "Minor Triumphs": Teaching Students to Evaluate Critical Pronouncements .....	127
Patricia L. Hamilton
Chapter Thirteen: Teaching Women Playwrights from the British Romantic Period (1790–1840) .....	140
Catherine B. Burroughs
Chapter Fourteen: Working within a Community of Learners: Teaching Christina Rossetti at a Christian College .....	150
Diane Chambers
Chapter Fifteen: Canon-Busting: Undergraduate Research into Romantic-Era Women's Writing in the Corvey Collection .....	160
E. J. Clery
Chapter Sixteen: Teaching "Recovered" Victorian Female Intellectuals .....	165
Peaches Henry
Chapter Seventeen: Everybody Learns and Everybody Teaches: Feminist Pedagogy and Co-editing Mary Ward's Marcella .....	181
Nicole Meller Beck and Beth Sutton-Ramspeck
Chapter Eighteen: "Can Man Be Free/And Woman Be a Slave?" Teaching Eighteenth- and Nineteenth-Century Women Writers in Intersecting Communities .....	190
Gina Luria Walker

Chapter Nineteen: Who Counts? Popularity, Modern Recovery, and the Early Nineteenth-Century Woman Poet.....	205
David E. Latané Jr.
Chapter Twenty: Changing Course(s) At Mid- and Late Career: Teaching the Lives/Teaching the Works/Teaching the Teacher .....	224
William B. Thesing
List of Contributors .....	233