

Table of contents

Preface	vii
Introduction	ix
Wolff-Michael Roth and Kenneth Tobin
PART I: THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVES	1
Introduction: part I	3
1 Coteaching: from praxis to theory	5
Wolff-Michael Roth and Kenneth Tobin
2 Becoming like the other	27
Wolff-Michael Roth
PART II: COTEACHING/COGENERATIVE DIALOGUING IN PHILADELPHIA	53
Introduction: part II	55
3 Coteaching/cogenerative dialoguing in an urban science teacher preparation program	59
Kenneth Tobin and Wolff-Michael Roth
4 The role of coteaching in the development of the practices of an urban science teacher	79
Jennifer Beers
5 Cogenerating culturally and socially adaptive practices	97
Sarah-Kate LaVan
6 Coteaching as a site for collaborative research	121
Beth A. Wassell
7 Exchanging the baton: exploring the co in coteaching	141
Kenneth Tobin

PART III: COTEACHING: ADDRESSING GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES	163
Introduction: part III	165
8 Developing wisdom-in-practice through coteaching: a narrative account Donna Rigano, Stephen Ritchie, and Trish Bell	169
9 Coteaching in a science methods course: an apprenticeship model for early induction to the secondary classroom Charles J. Eick and Frank Ware	187
10 Coteaching as an approach to enhance science learning and teaching in primary schools Colette Murphy and Jim Beggs	207
11 Gender issues in coteaching Kathryn Scantlebury	233
Epilogue Kenneth Tobin and Wolff-Michael Roth	249
Contributors	265
Index	271